LOCAL MISCELLANY.

REMODELLING THE COURTS. SUGGESTED CHANGES RECFIVING MUCH CONSIDE ATION-IDEAS OF SURROGATE CALVIN.

There are indications that the condition of the courts in this city will receive more careful attention at Albany this year than the Legislature has given to the subject in a long time. The presentation of the constitutional amendment which Senation Bixby is advocating and which the Bar Association of this city approves, namely, to consolidate the New-York Superior and Common Pleas Courts with the Supreme Court, is attracting attention to the work and deficiencies of some of the minor courts. The ten Civil Districts Courts of the city are of immense value in caring for the multitude of the work and deficiencies of some of the innor courts. The ten Civil Districts Courts of the city are of immense value in caring for the multitude of little litigations which arise between all classes of persons, which involve generally small sums of money, but which are often of as much importance to the poor people interested as greater litigations are to the wealthy. The most of these suits are tenant cases, or disputes between master and servant about wages. While the amounts involved may be small the law points that arise are frequently as intricate and as difficult of decision as those that arise in the courts of greater dignity. The city at present is divided into ten judicial districts, each or which elects its civil justice, who commands a salary of $6.000 a year. He sus for two or three days of each week. The evils most complained of are the influence of local district polities in securing the election of incapable men, and the attempts of the same influence to "run" the court of each civil justice after he is elected.

local district politics in securing the election of Incapable men, and the attempts of the same infinence to "run" the court of each civil justice after he is elected.

Surrogate Calvin, who has given the subject a great deal of careful attention, explained to a Tribune of the careful attention, explained to a Tribune the character and judicial standing of these courts. "It seems to me," he said, "that the idea of uniting the Common Pleas and the Superior Court, with the Supreme Court is a good and feasible one. But it is essential that the Marine Court should remain where it is, and continue to do its distinctive work. But it should do more; its lines should be extended so as to include the work of the civil district courts. As soon as the terms of the present civil justices had expired, I would abolish their offices. The salaries of the clerks of these various courts should be fixed at something like $3,000, a sum sufficient to call into the office men capable of performing all the mere routine work that now devolves upon the civil justice, such as granting adjournments, joining issue and the like; and this class of work these clerks should be required to do. Then the number of Marine Court judges should be increased from six to mine. Three of the number should be assigned each month to do the judicial work of the District Courts. Then these three judges might sit during the month in circuit, so to say, at each of the District Courts. Then these three judges might sit during the month in circuit, so to say, at each of the District Courts. The publical which is say I think the District Courts would be elevated in their judicial character, and you would destroy the noxious effect of local politics u

POLICE BOARD MATTERS. GENERAL SMITH'S RESIGNATION DENIED-A QUES-TION ABOUT MR, FRENCH'S SALARY.

In regard to the statement in The Star that General William F. Smith has resigned as a Police Commissioner and that Mayor Grace has accepted the resignation, Mayor Grace said yesterday that General Smith had not offered his resignation nor lead it here requested.

General Smith had not offered his resignation not had it been requested.

General Smith said to a reporter of The Tribune:
"The position of Police Commissioner interieres materially with my private business. If I cannot arrange matters so that I can overcome this I shall feel temined to resign. I have not yet resigned, however, and do not contemplate doing so at once. My term of office expires May I. That is only a little more than three months from this time. At present I have not positively determined to resign.

A question has arisen owing to the aixiety of the Police Commissioners at a recent session to comply

A question has arisen owing to the auxiety of the Police Commissioners at a recent session to comply with the forms of the law in the election of a president of the Board for 1881. It was proposed to continue Mr. French in that office, and the proposition prevailed; lest, however, the view of General Smith, that the president holds over until a successor is elected, and that hence no formal election was necessary, should prove incorrect, the Board, at Mr. French's own suggestion, took a formal vote and reclected him to the office for the year 1881. The president of the Police Board is not among the presidents of departments who, under the Public Burdens act, will receive higher salaries than their fellow Commissioners. Heretofore, the president of the Police Board has received $8,000, while the other Commissioners received only $6,000. It is now reasoned that Mr. French, having been formally elected to the office of president, must lose his extra salary and hereafter range with the other Commissioners. On the other hand, the claim is under that Mr. French was a Commissioner before the law was passed and therefore cannot come under its operations.

Act Hereafte having the hereafter and the proposition is a proposed to continue Mr. Heaving having the would believe her not to talk so, because if she did has bound think she was adishonest and putting his arm around her fine thusband. Heretofore, the president of the Police Board has received $8,000, while the other Commissioners received only $6,000. It is now not conclude the put up his hand to ward off a blow, but do not couch her; he did not push or show her out, and not couch her; he did not push or show her out, and many the first many the could have the results of the president of the Police Board has received $8,000, while the other than their fellow. CELESTIAL BUT NOT HEAVENLY MUSIC.

Strange sounds issued from the parlor of the St.
Julien Hotel yesterday afternoon. They were made by Ah Foo and Paru Yhounts, two Chinese musicians. The instrument used by the former reseables a small guitar. The body of the instrument is made of the skin of a boa constrictor and the keys are as large as clothes-pins. The guitar has only three strings, which are manipulated by the performer with great rapidity. Paru Yhounts played an extraordinary kind of fiddle, in which the bow is introduced between two strings and works mysteriously around the neck of the instrument in the production of Chinese music. A banjo, also used by the players, with the exception of the strings, is made entirely of wood. The body of the instrument is hollow. Chang, the Chinese giant, towered above his fellow-countrymen in a corner of the room and called for some martial music. The players responded with an air pitched in a very high key. The music cannot be adequately described. It resembled the squeak of the bax-pipe and the tinkling of the banjo combined. The theme was repeated with endless variations, and the "martial" air at times suggested the lively notes of a quickstep polika and then a funeral dirge. The high notes were so shrill that they were painful to the ear. The perfor nance was evidently a labor of love with the players, who seemed to think that they were producing exquisite strains. Chang sat wrapped in thought and told an amused inquirer as to his silence that the music reminded him of his native land. The players had to be ordered to stop when the audience was surfeited, as their music evidently has no natural ending.
They are said to be accustomed to play the same air by the hour. Yook San was sick and could not perform on his instrument, which reundely resembles a fiddle in which the bridge is placed near the keys.
A song was called for. It began in a guitural cry, continued in a weird chant and ended with a prolonged howl. Then Chang sang a solo accompanied CELESTIAL BUT NOT HEAVENLY MUSIC.

The performance concluded by Chang producing a silver box curiously engraved. The hid flow up and a tiny mocking-bird of brilliant plumage appeared flapping its little wings and executing a variety of trils. Then the bird lay down in its nest and the lid closed with a snap. The Chinese musicians are to appear at Bunnels's Museum.

LUNG AND THROAT DISEASES.

LUNG AND THROAT DISEASES.

The Health Officers are actively engaged in making a careful examination of all the houses in the city in which diphtheria prevails, with the object of determining by statistics how far the prevalence of sewer-gas in such houses is responsible for the generation or spread of the disease. The reports for one week of a single inspector. Dr. Hughes, show that of twenty-four houses infected with diphtheria nme had defective plumbing and drainage. Four instances are mentioned by other inspectors in which the disease was directly traceable to the foul condition of the houses or the streets in front of the houses.

Pusumonia is reported to be increasing in Brook-lyn, and to number more victims than diphtheria. For the week ended January 8, forty-six persons died from this cause, five more than from diphtheria. Of these fourteen were over fifty years old, twenty were under five years, two were upward of ninety-five years, and ten were under one year. The deaths from this disease for the four weeks ended January 1 sere as follows:

ing Dec. 11.... 28 | Week ending Dec. 25.... 25 ing Dec. 18.... 32 | Week ending Jan. 1.... 28 THEFTS BY UNBIDDEN GUESTS.

amount of $800 was stolen. The house was full of guests, who had met at a social gathering, when the thieves made their way to the second story and into Miss Mina Witschon's room. They broke open the trunks and jewel cases, and stole their contents, and then tried to open a safe that stood in an adjoining room, but without success. Interrupted in their work they fied through the back windows and made their escape. The burglary was reported at Police Headquarters yesterday.

NO CROTON ABOVE THE FIRST FLOOR. A REDUCED PRESSURE BECAUSE OF WASTE OFFERED

AS AN EXPLANATION.

In certain parts of the city, more especially in the clevated districts and below Canal-st., there has been much complaint on the part of the residents, concerning the scant supply of Croton. In very many houses the water will not rise above the first floor, and in more favored situations not above the second. Engineer Campbell, of the Department of Public Works, was asked yesterday the cause of this short sumply.

second. Engineer Campbell, of the Department of Public Works, was asked yesterday the cause of this short supply.

"The drouth last year was very severe," he replied, "and prolonged. We had to draw largely on the large storage reservoir at Boyd's Corners and elsewhere, and on the lakes of the Croten watershed. All of these were drawn down very low. Nevertheless the city was not put on a short supply. The reservoirs and lakes have not recovered from the depletion of last fall, but when the snow and ice melt there will be no trouble in filling them. The Croton River is running over the dam every day, so that there is no trouble about a full supply for the aqueduct, and it is being worked to its full capacity. The immediate cause of the complaints from residents is because of the reduced pressure. When the cold snap came on, late in December, very many persons allowed the Croton to run continuously, because they were afraid of its freezing. The waste was very great. December 30, the water in the large reservoir in Central Park was drawn down five inches, indicating that 12,500,000 gallons of Croton had been consumed besides the 92,000,000 gallons which the aqueduct delivers daily from December 30 to January S. The Croton in the Central Park reservoir was lowered two feet nine inches. This was a condition of things that we could not help taking cognizance of. We reduced the pressure, and since then there has been no shrinkage in the amount of water in the reservoir. We expected that there would be a further loss on account of the present cold, but it has not happened yet. We have no Croton to spare. There is enough low it to be wasted."

JEWELEY IN HER MOUTH AND STOCKING.

JEWELRY IN HER MOUTH AND STOCKING.

Mrs. Gottlieb Schmolz, of No. 140 Green-st., Newark, returned to her home after a temporary absence yesterday aftermoon and found a well-dressed woman of middle age in her bedroom ransacking her bureau drawers. Mrs. Schmolz prevented the woman from leaving the house and called her husband, who summoned an officer. The woman was taken to Police Headquarters, where she said her name was Mary Bowers and that she lived in Rahway. A search of the woman revealed two large pockets beneath her dress, a number of skeleton keys, a lady's gold watch and chain, a valuable diamond ring with six large stones and an emeraid setting, a pair of gold spectacles, a brooch, a pair of earrings, wedding-rings and other articles of jswelry. The diamond ring was concealed in her mouth. In her stocking was a roll of money. The woman was looked up. None of the articles found upon the woman belonged to Mrs. Schmolz, and it was thought that these articles were proceeds of previous robberies. In the bureau in which Mrs. Schmolz found her ransacking was a roll of bills amounting to $1,500 belonging to a veteran association of which Mr. Schmolz is the treasurer. Two weeks ago some persons living in the eastern part of the city were robbed of large amounts of jewelry and money by a sneak their who entered their houses unobserved. It was thought that the articles found on the woman might be identified as belonging to these people, and they were sent for to come to Police Headquarters.

Early in the evening a woman was arrested at the Windsor Hotel as an accomplice, while she case eating supper. In her room at the hotel were found several articles of jewelry and chothing supposed to have been stolen. She sandthat she came from Philadelphia last Friday, and met the woman Bowers at the train; that they visited New York together, and then went to Newark for a short stay. She was looked up at Police Headquarters. JEWELRY IN HER MOUTH AND STOCKING.

PUTTING A VISITOR OUT OF HIS HOUSE.

PUTTING A VISITOR OUT OF HIS HOUSE.

In the City Court of Brooklyn yesterday the trial of the suit of Mrs. Henrietta Deputy against William H. Hazzard for $25,000 for injuries alleged to have been received from the violence of the defendant, was continued. Mr. Hazzard testified in his defence as follows:

On the evening of June 4, he said, about 7 o'clock, Mrs. Deputy and her father called at his house and questioned him about a letter from Mr. Deputy, asking why he had not answered it. Mr. Hazzard said that it was not worthy of an answer; that its sentiments were false and dishonest. His reply, Mrs. Deputy said, was not true, at which Mr. Hazzard exclaimed, "Now, Nettie, don't talk that way." He added that David (Mr. Deputy) had obtained credit from verious persons by saying that he was Mr. Hazzard's cousin. Mrs. Deputy answered, "That's a he." Hazzard named a Mr. Resseguie as his authority, and Mrs. Deputy again declared it a lie, and said she would beheve her husband against twenty other mos. Hazzard askel her not to talk so, because if she did he should think she was as dishonest as her husband. Again the woman declared that he lied. Hazzard then took ber left hand, lifted her from the chair, and purting his arm around her waist, over her arm at her chook, walked her to the then to say, "Nettie, don't talk so."

On cross-examination Mr. Hazzard said he considered himself a mild mar. When Mrs. Deputy called she was very awary, and said if she were a man she would knock him down. He told her that he believed from her husband's letter that they wanted to get $800 from him, and she called him a har.

Mr. Hazzard, at request of counsel, illustrated the manner in which he cjected Mrs. Deputy. To a juror he said he weighed 165 pounds.

After some other testimony the Court adjourned until to-morrow at 10 a. m.

THE LOST CITY OF BOSTON.

THE LOST CITY OF BOSTON.

Dr. Clare W. Beames, of No. 208 East Ninth-st., found a memorandum in his nouse a few drys ago which he thinks will explain the fate of the steamship City of Boston, which was lost in 1870 and of which no trace was ever found to tell how she was destroyed. "In 1870," he said last night to a Tribuve reporter. "I lived at Pamrapo (Sattersvide), N. J. One day, several months after the steamer City of Boston was missing, a servant in my house brought to me a small bottle which had been washed on the shore. It was about four incaes long, about an inch in diameter, and had been used probably for hair oil. In it was a paper which looked as if it had been torn from a memorandum book. It was soaked with the o.l in the bottle. When I opened it I found these words in pencil on the paper: "Steamship City of Boston, burned June 29, 1870. A. Harrick." There was another word which I could not read very well, but it looked like 'treque.' The bottle was apparently a Freach o ie, and on one side was blown or cast the words, 'Hygnenique Societe, Rue de Rivoli, Paris.' I put the bottle in a closet and made a memorandum of the facts which I carried in my pocket. I thought the whole matter was probably a hoax, and that the City of Boston would be heard from some time. A few months afterward I could not find the bottle and I had misland the memorandum of the facts which afterward I could not find the bottle and I had misland the memorandum, which I had not seen for nearly nine years, and as nothing has been heard from the City of Boston since, this may possibly explain how it was destroyed."

A young woman appealed to the police yesterday, at the Central Office, for aid in her search for her husband, Edward McAndrew, which she had kept up alone for three years. The two were married in June, 1876, in St. Paul's Church, Brooklyn, A child was born to them, and their happiness seemed complete. One morning, when the child was five weeks old, McAndrews kissed the wife and child good-bye, and went to his work. He never returned. SEARCHING FOR HER MISSING HUSBAND.

Inquiries were made, but with no result. Whe Inquiries were made, but with no result. When the mother was able to walk, she travelled through New-York and Brooklyn with her child, day by day, searching shops and factories, but nothing was ever heard of him. When a year old, the child died from privation, but the mother still went on her way hunting for her husband. Not until three years had thus passed did she yield to the persunsion of her friend and gave up the hope of inding him. A few weeks ago she learned that her husband had been seen in this city. The truth of the information was proved to her satisfaction, and she immediately resumed her search. She asked the aid of the police, who sent out an alarm describing the missing man as twenty-four years old, with brown heir, blue eyes and light misstache. He used to wear his wife's picture in a locket at his watch-chain, and half of a sixpence which the young couple clipped at their betrothal in Ireland six years ago. Mrs. McAndrew lives at No. 524 West Fifty-first-st.

SKILL IN ROLLER SKATING.

The Roller Skating Rink, which was opened only a week ago at the Metropolitan Concert Hall, seems to have grown rapidly in public favor. Last evering over 400 people were present, a large proportion of the visitors being ladles, and yet the floor was not crowded. Mr. Rollins, the manager, said that the rink would accommodate at least 700 and allow plenty of room. The whole of the main floor of the hall, excepting the portion under the galleries, is given up to the skaters. It is covered with a thick layer of asphalt, which, when hard, presents a firm and perfectly smooth and even surface. Skaters say that it is fully equal to ice for fancy skating, and some fine exhibitions of the art are often given. In the moraing the riok is given up exclusively to ladies; in the afternoon the school children come, and in the evening the general public is admitted. FINANCES OF THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The Finance Committee of the World's Fair met for the first time yesterday afternoon, at No. 317 Broadway. R. G. Rolston, John R. Townsend. Frederic A. Potts, Thomas Barbour, Cornelius N. Bliss. W. A. Wheelock, Charles Schleringer, James Talcott, Frederick L. Talcott, W. A. Cole, Algernon S. Sullivan and John M. Cornell were present. Mr. Rolston was made temporary charman, and Mr. Townsend temporary secretary. Several committees were appointed for detail work, such as securing subscription books. The permanent organization of the committee will be effected at its next meeting. Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. Thomas Barbour made a speech on the prospects of the Exhibition. He said that he was interested heart and soul in its success. "The men I see around me." he continued. "most of them, at least, are men who came to New-York poor. By their pertinacity, their sobriety and their ability, they have made large fortunes and won enviable positions. The same business falent that has won them their fortunes they will put into this enterprise and it must necessarily succeed."

"The members of the committee were in the best of spirits, and several of them said that with General Grant as president, there was not the slightest doubt that the Exhibition would be a complete success. Mr. Rolaton remarked to a Tribung reporter: "No work has been done in getting subscriptions in the last two or tiree days. That will begin as soon as the regular committees are appointed."

"Have any of the Finance Committee declined to act?"

"Have any of the Finance Committee decimals act?"

"No. There has not been a resignation. Some of them were absent to-day, but the majority of these sent us word that business would prevent their attendance."

George M. Scott, of Utah, visited the rooms of the Commission in the afternoon. He said that the people of Utah were anxious to have the Fair held. There were many new manufacturers there, who desired particularly to make an exhibit at this Exhibition.

ANOTHER SOUND STEAMER.

ANOTHER SOUND STEAMER.

Soon after the loss of the steamer Rhode Island, the Providence and Stonington Steamboat Company asked for plans and specifications from builders for the construction of a new boat. A contract has been awarded to builders in Noank to construct a boat with many improvements for the promotion of comfort to passengers and safely to the vessel not heretofore taken advantage of in wooden vessels. The boat is to be 345 feet in length on the water line, 46 feet breadth of hull, 80 feet extreme breadth ircluding the guards, and 16 feet depth of hold. Her frame will be of live oak and locust, and her boilers will be inclosed within tron builkheads reaching from the keelson to the hurricane deck, so that the fire cannot communicate with the woodwork and so that the water cannot reach the fires. The new boat will also have several water-tight compartments, formed by transverse builkheads. There will be no joiner work around the engine-room, and every improvement in the way of non-combustibles will be made use of. She will be a paddie-wheel boat, with a single walking-beam engine, with a cylinder ninety inches in diameter and a stroke of fourteen feet.

The accommodations for 1,000 passengers will be first-class. The boat will be provided with a scan steering apparatus, which was first used on the Rhode Island and Massachusetts, and next on the Fall River Line, and will also be provided with electric lights, the same as now used on the Massachusetts. The means for saving life will be complete in every department, and besides the steam jets in all the compartments for extinguishing fire there will be hose and other appliances.

SINGULAR CONDUCT OF A WATCHMAN.

George Edgar, of No. 68 West Thirty-seventh-st., procured a warrant Thursday at the Jefferson Market Police Court for the arrest of David Menamara, a night watchman, of No. 145 Fifth-ave., against whom he preferred a charge of disorderly conduct. He told Justice Flammer that Menamara was in the habit of calling at his house and using threatening language. The warrant was placed in the hamds of Officer Michaels, of the Court squad, who Friday night went to execute it. He found Menamara near Twenty-first-st., and, having told him that it was necessary for him to go to the station house, the latter threw himself on the sidewalk and cried loudly for the police. A crowd soon collected, and he said the officer wanted to kiduap him, and asked the protection of the bystanders. Michaels exhibited his shield, and with great difficulty book Menamara to the Tinctieth Street Station. He was arraigned before Justice Flammer yesterday. He told the Justice that he became acquainted with Edgar last summer, when the latter had charge of the steamboat J. B. Schayler, which was plying between the city and Coney island. Menamara said that he had purchased in Paris two years ago a valuable marine glass which he loaned to Edgar and which he was unable to recover, and consequently called at his house very often te get it. Edgar dended this story and the man was held in $500 buil to keep the peace. SINGULAR CONDUCT OF A WATCHMAN.

ANOTHER O'LEARY WALKING CONTEST. The first contest for the O'Leary International cent of the gate-money will be divided among the first five contestants who cover a distance of 480 miles, as follows: 40 per cent to the winner, 30 per cent to the second man, 15 per cent to the stirid, 10 per cent to the fourth and 5 per cent to the fifth man. Should the winner exceed 566 miles, the greatest distance on re-ord, he will receive an extra prize of $1,000. Those who fall short of 480 miles will receive nothing for their panis. So far, about fifty persons have paid the first instalment of $10 of the extrance fee of $100, and fourteen have paid the full amount. Among the latter, who have encreed as previous tages in this city, are Join Douber.

Gordon is twenty-two years of age, and was well thought of by his employer, and in addition to his salary he was allowed to sleep in the store. According to his own admission he has stelen articles valued at several thousand dollars, which he has distributed among his associates. The woman who informed the police was formerly an especial ravorate of his, but became jealous of his attentions to another woman. The following articles, valued at $400, have been recovered; three damond rings, three earrings, two shawl pins, one pair of bracelets, one gold ring, one pair of diamond sleeve buttons, two gold watch chains, one gold and one silver watch, and a number of trinkets of small value. On information received from Gordon it is expected that other articles of jewelry will be recovered. He was arraigned before Jastice Flammer, at the Jefferson Market Police Court, vosterday, and, pleading guilty, was held to answer in $1,000 bad.

NEW RULES OF THE PRODUCE EXCHANGE. The Board of Managers of the Produce Exchange adopted a resolution yesterday requiring each applicant for membership to deposit $1,000. There have been 156 applications in the last few days, and there were forty three yesterday, so that checks to the amount of $199,000 will have to be deposited. with the superintendent. There were many differ-ent opinions expressed yesterday by the members in regard to the proposed amendments, which have caused the large number of applications for membercaused the large number of applications for membership, and which will be submitted to the members for ratification January 24. Some thought the new scheme looked like a desire to force the sale of seats at high prices for individual profit. Others thought it was a good plan, on the ground that the members who had worked for the welfare of the Exchange should have some reward for this. The admission fee has been $1,000 for six years, but no seats have been sold at that price until three days ago. Certificates of membership have brought, during the past six years, from $260 to $950.

ROUGH WEATHER AT SEA.

The Italian bark Margharita Lauro sailed from this port for Salonica on January 7. She was picked up Friday twelves miles from Barnegat, just as her crew was about to abandon her. January 9, she was caught in a heavy squall, the wind blowing from the east and causing a heavy sea. She finally sprang a leak and the Captain had decided to abandon her. Friday when the United States revenue-steamer Grant was sighted, she took the Margharita in tow and brought her into port.

The Batavia arrived from Liverpool yesterday after a stormy voyage which delayed her several days. On the voyage the female figure-head was washed away, and when she arrived at her pier she was completely covered with ice.

EXPLOSION IN PASSAIC CITY. ONE MAN KILLED AND ANOTHER BADLY SCALDAD. The hood of the crown plate of a boiler in Watson's bleachery in Passaic City, N. J., blew off with a loud report at noon yesterday, filling the engineroom with steam. The windows were blown out, but the building which contained the engine was only slightly damaged. Owen Garland, one of the firemen, was instantly killed by being struck by the hood. His skull was crushed in a horrible manner. He was married, and had a wife and seven children. Michael Tuily, the other fireman, who was in the engine-room at the time of the explosion, was badly scalded by the steam which escaned from the ruptured boiler. He was taken to his home. Benjamin Watson, the engineer, a brother of the proprietor of the bleachery, left the engine-room just before the explosion took place and escaped injury. The explosion is supposed to have been caused by a defect in the iron. An inquest will be held next week over the body of Gariand. ONE MAN KILLED AND ANOTHER BADLY SCALDED.

U. S. GRANT, JR., IN A POLICE COURT.

Henry Raymond, the milatto, who on Friday might stole an overcoat belonging to U. S. Grant, ir., from No. 26 West Fifty-eighth-st., was taken before Justice Kilbreth, in the Yorkville Police Court yesterday morning. Mr. Grant had not put in an appearance at 10 o'clock, and the Justice, being obliged to attend the Court of Special Sessions, temporarily committed the prisoner, and adjourned court at that hour. There was present, however, Jeremiah Conway, a waiter in the employ of Henry Leech, of No. 22 East Fifty-seventh-st., who identified Raymond as the man who stole an overcoat from the hallway of his employer's house several nights ago.

In the atternoon Raymond was again arraigned, In the atternoon Raymond was again arraigned, when Mr. Grant appeared against him. Two other charges were also preferred: One of stealing a coat valued at $50 from the house of Mrs. Carrie Hastings, of No. 15 West Fiftieth-st. and another of stealing an overcoat valued at $60 from the house of Henry S. Leecn, of No. 22 East Fifty-seventh-st. The accused man was held in $1.000 bail in each of the cases. Raymond is nineteen years old and lives at No. 121 West Twenty-first-st. He is said to have robbed lifteen houses of overcoats during the present month.

CERCLE DE L'HARMONIE BALL.

CERCLE DE L'HARMONIE BALL.

The arrangements for the sixteenth annual fancy dress bail, which will take place at the Academy of Music on Monday, January 24, are now complete. The committees are as follows: Committee of Arrangements—L. E. Balny, J. A. Guivand, A. J. Delouest, M. G. Jouffret, G. Dorval, L. Mennier, J. M. Dubous, E. J. Thierry; F. Kinzler, president, P. Huot; vice-president. Reception Committee—E. Capel, S. M. Regniault, L. H. Duparquet, P. Rontey, J. C. Galoupeau, B. Simon, M. Griffon, J. Tartter, M. Jouffret, J. Tregan, E. Kullmann, E. J. Thierry, L. L. Lafon, C. Villa. Press Reception Committee—J. M. Dubous, J. Dardonville, A. de Garus, F. Fere, C. Goussel, M. J. Fitzpatrick, J. Gruet, C. Galiot, E. Lagarde. The bridge spanning Irving-place will be elevated sufficiently to allow carriages to pass under it, and the entrances to Irving and Nilsson Halls will be embowered in evergreens. Among the curious masks will be costumes representing the reigns of Clovis, Childeric and Charlemagne. The entire space of the Academy fronting on Irving-place will be used for dressing and cloak rooms, to avoid confusion or delay.

BISHOP POITER ON THE REV. MR. COWLEY.

The statement that steps were to be taken toward placing the Rev. Mr. Cowley on trial before an ecclesiastical tribunal of the Protestant Episcopal Church was denied by Bishop Potter yesterday, who was approached on the subject by a Tribune reporter. The Bishop was distinctined to talk much about the case. He said, however, that very often ministers, against whom no specific charges of bat conduct had been preferred, made application for dismissal themselves. In most cases it was necessary in order that a clergyman should be tried that definite charges should be made by persons who were willing to prove them. Action was not taken on the part of the church on the ground of mere rumor or report.

ley's case without formal charges being preferre against him on an application for dismissal made by himself?

"They could; but it is too soon to say anything about the matter yet."

"The case it way out of the difficulty would be a request for dismissal by Mr. Cow.ey, would it not?"

"Yes; and I will not say that steps have not been taken on the part of the church authorities toward that end."

MR. BEINCKERHOFF EXPLAINS.

The Rev. I. W. Brinckerhoff, of Tottenville, S. L. eeing that he was misreoresented in some of the protest of the Ren.hardt hanging, says that "the incrests of truth seem to call for the following state-1. I attended Mr. Reinhardt in his last moments in the corridor, as stated by one reporter.

"5. The 'st-pense,' 'agony' and 'torture' so freely spoken of by the reporters were entirely on the part of the specialors, who seemed eager to witness the last act of the rearril tragedy."

DR. CARO'S SUIT NOT SETTLED.

DR. CARO'S SUIT NOT SETTLED.

The suit of Dr. Salvatore Caro against the Metropolitan Elevated Railway Company, for damages to his property by reason of the construction of the road on Frity-third-st., has not been compromised, as reported. The case was decided in General I-rai in favor of Dr. Caro, and it now remains for his attorneys to get a jury to assess the amount of damages. This has not yet been done, nor has the company given notice of an appeal. When incapity was made of General Roger A. Prvor, comisel for Dr. Caro, vesterday, he said the reason no further action had been taken on the part of the plaintiff was because a settlement was takked of. He said no compromise had yet been made, nor could be say that the railroad company had made an offer, but the subject was under discussion. There is at least one case similar to this now on the calendar of the Court of Appeals, and decision in one will govern the others.

THE BURIAL OF REINHARDI'S BODY.

THE BURIAL OF REINHARDI'S BODY.

As soon as the body of the wife-murderer, Edward Rembardt, was delivered to the undertaker, after the hanging in the Reimond County Jail-yard on Friday, it was placed in a coffin and removed to siver Mount Cemetery at New-Brighton, not far from Siver Lake, where Reinhardt buried the barret containing his murdered wife. The mother, father and eister of the dead man, together with a few friends, were at the cemetery when the body arrived there. The lid of the coffin was removed for a last look at the remains. The face was not much discolored, and it was remarked that the deceased man boked as if he were askeep. Reinhardt's parents were deeply affected. Sheriff Couner says that the statement that Reinhardt cost the county $20,000 is absurd, and declares that when all the expenses are paid the total amount will be less than $8,000.

TRYING TO UNITE FOR PROTECTION. TRYING TO UNITE FOR PROTECTION.

Several of the mutual benefit associations of this State have forned a union, and have issued a circular setting forth the dangers with which associations of that character are threatened. In the circular it is stated that efforts have been made, and probably will be made again, to have these associations considered as insurance companies. In that event each association would be obliged to deposit $100,000 with the Insurance Department, which very few of them would be able to do. This is to be accomplished either by getting the courts to decide that they are insurance companies in reality or by obtaining legislation to that effect. The circular concludes by urging all the mutual benefit associations in the State to join the union for self-protection.

LIGHTING HER OWN FUNERAL PYRE.

A woman giving the name of Ernestine Cantor on Thursday, obtained employment as a nurse at the Institution of the Hebrew Sheltering Guardian Society at Fifty-seventh-st, and First-ave. At 10 p. m. she went to her room. After all in the building were asleep she arose and going into the kitchen, piled some wood and shavings on the floor and lighted them. She then deliberately stood on the blazing wood with the intention of burning herselt to death. The kitchen caught fire and an alarm was given by a servant. Mr. Samuel Dublon, the superintendent, and his wife put out the fire and were badiv burned. Ernestine Cantor died a few hours aler from the injuries which she received from the flames. There were sixty-five children and eight grown people in the asylum at the time, and the building is constructed of wood. Ernestine Cantor, it has been ascertained, is Mrs. Ernestine Kerstine, the wife of Morris Kerstine, a wealthy merchant of Ashley, Ill. A brother and sister live at Marion, Ill. Her uncle, S. Lipstadt, is a clother doing business at No. 456 Broadway, and lives at No. 352 East Forty-first-st. Mrs. Kerstine leit his house at 11 a. m. Thursday. She is said to have been insane.
